CHEESE GUIDE

ASIAGO

Description: It is an inspiring cheese. It ranges in flavor from mild and buttery when it's young (look for the clear or white wax coating) to an intense, semi-sharp when its aged (in the black coating).

Serve with: Apples, pears, red or green grapes, figs, crusty breads, and pasta.

Appearance: Light yellow with tiny cracks or holes; may be coated in paraffin.

Taste: Mild when young; Nutty and semi-sharp when aged.

Melt: Melts best when grated.

BLUE

Description: Blue's tangy, ripe flavor intensifies as it ripens. Blue is guaranteed to add some kick to any meal.

Serve with: Pears, raisins, figs, walnuts, fruit and nut breads.

Appearance: White or yellow with blue veins.

Taste: Tangy, ripe and earthy

Melt: Melts best when crumbled.

BRIE

Description: Softened at room temperature, Brie nicely tops crackers or complements apples, strawberries, pears, melons, grapes or walnuts. When heated, the smooth interior melts into a perfect spread for crackers, croissants and crusty breads.

Serve with: Apples, strawberries, pears, melons, grapes, sun-dried tomatoes, toasted walnuts, crackers, croissants and crusty breads.

Appearance: Yellow or ivory interior with thin, edible crust.

Taste: Creamy, rich and buttery.

Melt: Melts when heated.

CHEDDAR

Description: It's hard to imagine a time and place when Cheddar wouldn't be welcome. It's flavors range from mild to nutty, and creamy to extra sharp to rich and robust. If you want a little tang, try a white Cheddar.

Serve with: Soups, sauces, salads, sandwiches, casseroles, pizza, milk, apples, crackers.

Appearance: Light yellow or golden orange, usually pre-cut in square slices. Also available in white varieties.

Taste: Mild and delicate.

Melt: Melts well.

CREAM CHEESE

Description: Cream cheese is typically used in savory snacks of various types and can be used in cheesecakes and salads.

Serve with: Breads, bagels, crackers, and various raw vegetables.

Appearance: Soft, creamy and white.

Taste: Mild, fresh tasting, and sweet.

Melt: Melts smoothly.

FETA

Description: Usually thought of as only a Greek goat's milk cheese, Feta is now deliciously produced in the states using cow's milk. Its preservation process gives Feta a salty, pickled Mediterranean flavor that provides a pleasantly sharp zest.

Serve with: Salami, olives and crusty bread.

Appearance: White and bumpy; often packaged in blocks or containers of crumbled chunks.

Taste: Salty, pickled.

Melt: Melts well over heat.

FONTINA

Description: Because of its superior meltability, Fontina is known as the great cooking cheese, and has made mouths water as toppings. But it's also a great snacking cheese when pared correctly.

Serve with: Apples, mushrooms, ham, salami, dark and crusty breads.

Appearance: Pale-yellow interior with a dark, golden-brown rind.

Taste: Mildly fruity, nutty and earthy.

Melt: Melts easily and smoothly.

GOAT

Description: Goat cheese, with its pristine white color and distinct flavor, is one of the most amazing foods in the world - a humble basic for some, a gourmet delight for others.

Serve with: Fruits, nuts, toasted

bread, and salads.

Appearance: White and creamy; often shaped into log form.

Taste: Tangy, earthy.

Melt: Melts easily and smoothly.

GOUDA

Description: For some folks, Gouda may best be remembered for its wax-coated exterior.

But true cheese lovers will never forget Gouda's mellow, rich caramel-flavor. Or aged Gouda's lightly sweet and sharp individually. Or smoked Gouda's musky, rich aftertaste.

Serve with: Apples, pears, almonds, dark breads.

Appearance: Baby: red wax exterior, golden interior - Aged: Yellow wax exterior, golden interior - Smoked: Black or brown exterior, golden interior.

Taste: Mellow, rich, caramel.

Melt: Melts best when shredded.

HAVARTI

Description: Never underestimate Havarti. Light to pale yellow in color, smooth and buttery on the surface, Havarti has a hidden intensity that makes it a favor it for both entertaining and cooking.

Serve with: Pears, red grapes, roasted red peppers, olives, almonds, rye bread and bread sticks.

Appearance: Light to pale yellow with tiny holes.

Taste: Buttery, mild yet tangy.

Melt: Melts best when shredded.

JACK

Description: If you like to walk on the wild side, there's Monterey Jack. Because this mild cheese has a slightly zesty taste, it's often paired with fiery foods like jalapenos and salsa - but you can cool the heat a bit with plums, peaches, and toasted pecans. As Monterey Jack ages, its semi-soft texture hardens some, and its flavor gets nuttier.

Serve with: Plums, peaches, jalapenos, toasted pecans.

Appearance: Buttery-ivory color with tiny cracks.

Taste: Mild and slightly zesty, nutty with age.

Melt: Melts best when shredded or sliced.

MASCARPONE

Description: Mascarpone is soft, sweet and entirely unforgettable. Almost like butter-cream cake frosting, your taste buds will think they've died and gone to heaven. Needless to say, Mascarpone has made its place in the cheese world as a delectable dessert cheese.

Serve with: Fresh fruits, berries, fresh figs, shortbread and ladyfingers.

Appearance: White to ivory color, creamy.

Taste: Mild, semi-sweet and butter-like.

Melt: Melts well in sauces.

MOZZARELLA

Description: When talking Mozzarella, there's two ways to go; Fresh Mozzarella: soft, white and stored in water - or the Pizza (or String) variety - pale yellow with a smooth texture. Either one has a delicate, milky flavor that's hard to resist. But while Fresh Mozzarella is best with a sliced tomato, on top of salads or pasta, String is great melted on pizza or in sandwiches, or all by itself.

Serve with: Tomatoes, mushrooms, olives, roasted red peppers, crusty bread.

Appearance: Creamy, white color; often molded into shapes.

Taste: Delicate, mild and milky.

Melt: Melts best when sliced or shredded.

PARMESAN

Description: A true, Italian-style Parmesan will be butter, nutty, and so flavorful your inclination will be to eat it on its own with a bottle of wine rather than use it as grated topping. But grating or shredding it over pasta sauces, salads, risotto, mashed potatoes or pizzas will take these dishes to a new level.

Serve with: Pears, grapes, raisins, figs, walnuts, hearty breads.

Appearance: Pale-golden rind with a straw-colored interior.

Taste: Sharp, savory; intensifies with age.

Melt:

PROVOLONE

Description: Imagine a fuller-flavored mozzarella, and you've got the customary deli Provolone. A mild cheese that's just slightly on the tart-and-salty side, Provolone is tops on sandwiches, soups, salads and pizzas.

Serve with: Grapes, pears, figs, tomatoes, roasted red peppers, olives, hearty breads.

Appearance: Light yellow to golden brown.

Taste: Slightly tart and salty.

Melt: Melts best when shredded.

RICOTTA

Description: Lasagna, manicotti, ravioli... What makes them so good? The creamy Ricotta filling, of course. Moist and smooth, mild and lightly-sweet, Ricotta is a staple of Italian kitchens. But its deliciousness isn't limited to pasta and tangy tomato sauces, mix it with herbs and dip vegetables or crackers in it.

Serve with: Sweet berries, croissants, muffins, mild rye bread, water biscuits.

Appearance: White and moist; resembles cottage cheese with a very fine curd.

Taste: Mild but semi-sweet.

Melt:

ROMANO

Description: A slightly richer version of Parmesan, Romano is most commonly known as a zesty grated topping for pastas and pizzas. But Romano works well beyond the Italian kitchen - try it on scrambled eggs, quiches, or frittatas. Sprinkle it on soups or salads.

Serve with: Apples, pears, dried fruit, walnuts.

Appearance: Creamy white pale to yellow.

Taste: Sharp; robust; similar but richer than Parmesan.

Melt: Melts best when grated and heated.

SWISS

Description: Swiss can range from sweet to sharp, and is generally nutty and semi-hard. Since its flavor is mellow, it enhances sandwiches made with ham or prosciutto, salami and pumpernickel.

Serve with: Cherries, apples, pears, green grapes, toasted almonds, and croissants.

Appearance: Shiny and pale yellow, large holes.

Taste: Sweet to sharp; nutty.

Melt: Melts when shredded
