Categories of Rice

Indica— non-sticky, long grain; high in Amylose—i.e. long grain white; converted, long grain brown

Japonica—sticky, short grain; high in Amylopectin

Aromatic—medium to long grain like Basmati, Jasmine and Texmati. Cooks up light and fluffy and has a nut like aroma and taste.

Glutinous— also called sticky, sweet or waxy because of the texture, not because it contains gluten.

Long Grain—best choice for side dish or as a bed for sauces.

Medium Grain—shorter and plumper, ideal for paella or risotto.

Short Grain—almost round and slightly sticky. Perfect for rice pudding.

Acquerello

THE TASTIEST, THE RICHEST, THE HEALTHIEST

Aged for a minimum of 1 year in refrigerated silos, making the starch more stable and the flavor more enhanced.

It's the tastiest, because it's the only rice whitened with a "helix", a gentle method which leaves the grain intact and unscratched, making cooking consistent.

Acquerello carnaroli rice is the healthiest, because thanks to a patented process, the rice germ is absorbed back into the grains, giving them all the nutritional values of brown rice.

Acquerello makes RISOTTO EASY IN 2 STEPS, IN JUST 18 MINUTES!

- 1) 2 minutes: toast Acquerello with oil, onion and wine at medium heat.
- 2) 10 minutes: stir and let it slowly absorb salty water or stock.
- 3) Turn off fire, cool Acquerello on a cold surface and put it in the fridge.

ACQUERELLO.
ALLA PARMEGGIANA

We are renowned throughout the world as the best rice for risotto (18-20 mins), but we want to offer you an alternative cooking method, which will give you a perfectly cooked rice in 15 minutes.

Preparation:
Use salted water or stock and Acquerello rice with a 3 to 1 ratio. Add three parts of salted water or stock into a deep pan. When the water boils add one part of Acquerello. Cook for 10 minutes, stirring from time to time then turn off the heat. Add butter and grated Parmigiano cheese. Stir and let it rest for 5 minutes before serving.
Buon appetito!

Acquerello is the Italian word for watercolor. The image on the can depicts Tanato Columbiani, the Riccardini's family ancestor across and home of Acquerello, reflected in the water of the flooded rice fields in spring time.

Acquerello makes RISOTTO EASY WITH BOIL/NO STIR METHOD IN 15 MINUTES!

- 1) 3 parts liquid plus salt—bring to a boil.
- 2) Add 1 part rice, bring back to a low boil, stir once, cover for 10-11 minutes.
- 3) Turn off heat. Remove cover, stir add Extra Virgin Olive Oil and Parmigiano. Taste for seasoning and cover again for 3-5 minutes.

RICE GLOSSARY

Amylopectin—breaks down during cooking, becoming sticky.

Amylose—does not break down during cooking and retains shape.

Arborio Rice—best rice for pudding or a very creamy/sticky risotto.

Brown Rice—retains the bran around the kernel. Chewy, nutty and nutritious.

Calrose Rice—generally known as a medium grain California sushi rice.

Carnaroli Rice—best rice for risotto. Known as the “King of Rice’s”.

Converted Rice/Parboiled (Easy Cook)—tan in color, tastes like white, but has more nutrients; rice is steamed under pressure before milling (in the husk); making the grain harder and reduces the risk of over cooking.

Enriched Rice—white rice to which vitamins and nutrients have been added. This rice should not be rinsed. Not as nutritious as brown rice.

Golden Rice—genetically modified rice.

Instant Rice—precooked and dehydrated, white rice.

Paella Rice—Bomba or Extra (short grain can work as well)

Risotto Rice—Carnaroli rice if you want traditional al dente, Arborio (or lesser known Vialone Nano & Baldo) if you want a creamier texture.

Superfino—largest grain size for this type of rice. Example, superfine Arborio would be larger in size than regular Arborio.

White Rice—bran removed, very tender and delicate.

Wild Rice—technically not a rice, but a grass. Also called Canada rice, Indian rice or water oats.

Elegant Beans and Beyond is a family-owned business that grows heirloom & exotic dry beans. The Morris family, owners of Elegant Beans and Beyond, both come from farming families which have been involved in agriculture in the Sac-Joaquin Valley area for generations. All beans are heirloom non-GMO grown in the heart of California's fertile Central Valley. Mohr Fry Farms (aka Elegant Beans & Beyond) is a 6th generation family owned & operated farm in Lodi, California. All packed in 5 lb bags. Below items are STOCKED.

275603 Snowcap—beautiful bean that really pops in color as it retains its coloring well! Creamy texture makes it ideal for chowder!

275600 Black Valentine—shiny with skins that stay intact when cooked. Flesh is not mealy or mushy. They cook up quickly & are great in soup, chili or salads.

275640 Calypso Black & White—originated from the Caribbean. This has a delightful nutty, slightly oniony flavor & a texture that is more crumbly than creamy. Simmer gently so they do not break. Great for baking or in soups.

275615 Cannellini Runner—originally from South America then brought to Italy in the 16th century. Larger than traditional Cannellini beans. Full-bodied flavor with potato like texture. NOT AVAIL 2019

275625 Flageolet Green—known as the “Rolls Royce” of beans. This bean originated in France in the 1800's. It is tender & sweet, and holds its shape well when cooked. Ideal in pasta, sides & salads.

275615 Pebbles—very unique varietal as this natural mix of colors are all from the same plant! Uniform in size & they retain a good amount of color. Tender skin and meat. Perfect for cold salads.

275605 Yellow Indian Woman—common in Montana Native American communities. Ideal for slow cooked dishes because it holds its shape well.

Elegant Beans and Beyond—SPECIAL ORDER BEANS AVAILABLE
(Average Lead Time 3 Weeks) - see website for more beans!

*Arikara Yellow—originally obtained from the Arikara tribe of North Dakota and introduced in Oscar Will's Pioneer Indian Collection of seeds (1915). They are excellent for use as a baking 996717 Black Garbanzo—rare varietal, small pea size. Firm texture & a full, smoky flavor with a slightly sweet taste. Limited production.

982454 Lupin Flour—very high in protein, about 30%! Gluten free too. Can be used for pasta, bread & even hummus.

*Christmas Lima—subtle chestnut-like flavor & meaty texture make it superb for use in casseroles, chili, stews & salads. Large beans. Retains coloring.

*Creamy White-Eyed Pea—is a mild-flavored bean and since it absorbs other flavors during cooking is delicious seasoned with Thyme, Savory or Rosemary.

*Flor de Mayo—small bush bean native to Mexico. Mild, smoky flavor with an unusual texture. Perfect refried & in soups. Staff Pick!

*Hidatsa Red—originally obtained from the Hidatsa tribe of the Missouri River Valley in North Dakota. These beans are dark red seeds that taste similar to a kidney bean.

*Hutterite Soup—originated from a communal branch of Anabaptists who followed the teachings of Jacob Hutter. These greenish-yellow seeds with a distinctive dark ring around the eye make an excellent creamy white soup.

*Jacob's Cattle—originally cultivated by the Passamaquoddy Indians. It is favored by cooks in baked bean recipes because the beans soak up flavors superbly while retaining their shape and texture. Nutty flavor.

987251Jacob's Cattle Gold—this is a cross between Jacob's Cattle & Paint Beans. Exceptional cooking qualities. Holds its shape under long cooking while retaining their unique identity. Try in chili or refried.

*Lina Cisco's Bird Egg—very aromatic & has a potato-like creamy texture. Wonderful as a side to corn bread, chilled in avocado cucumber salad or simply as a bean spread.

*Nuna—originally from Peru, these beans are unique because when they are cooked with hot air, they pop like popcorn and taste like peanuts!

*October—Native American bean dating back to at least the 1830's from Cherokee Nation in Tennessee. They have a beautiful rich coloring with an earthy flavor.

*Painted Pony—also known as the brown mare bean because of its half brown and half white coloring that retain when cooked.

*Pigeon Pea—cultivated in Egypt 4,000 years ago. Very common in Hispanic communities in the US and Caribbean.

*Rice—this bean dates back to Germany in the 1860's. Super small 1/4" long and pill shaped. No soaking required and can cook in 30 minutes.

*Green-Black Eyed Peas—unique to California. Black eyed peas popular in the South and popular on NY Day. Thin skin. Has a subtle, earthy sweet flavor and buttery texture.

*Sunset Runner—originally from Central American but has been grown in US since the 1750's. Beautiful bean!

986798Tarbais—the original cassoulet bean. These beans can stand up to hours of cooking without breaking. Low in starch & extremely tender when cooked.

*Tiger Eye—beautiful orange bean with dark maroon swirling strips. Originally from South America. Great for chili or refried beans.

“We craft artisanal pastas from all-organic US grains. We are based in Oakland, CA and believe that reputation of good grains should be restored. Pasta is a natural vehicle, especially for Italians. We complement the quality of the grains we source by crafting pasta with old-fashioned techniques such as brass-extrusion and slow drying at low temperatures.” –Baia Pasta

Is couscous a grain or pasta?

It's a pasta, made from semolina flour and water, then dried and generally steamed. Originally a very labor intensive item to prepare, now almost always mechanically produced:

Flour is sprinkled with water, then rolled between hands to form small pellets. These small pellets are then dusted with flour to keep them separate, then are shaken in a Tamis (large, round, flat sieve). Any of the smaller pellets are then rolled together again and shaken in the Tamis—basically the opposite of straining. The small granules are then dried in the sun and ready to use.

Believed to be of North African origin, couscous originally was made from millet. In some regions around the world, it is made from farina, barley or even cornmeal. Hugely popular all over Africa, France and even Latin America; and easy to prepare too. We stock 4 types (3 sizes):

Medium—traditional, small coarse size

Medium Pre-Cooked—Instant traditional, small coarse size

Israeli Pearl Toasted—light tan color, larger than traditional, barley-sized round size

Mustard Manual: Your Guide to Mustard Varieties

Mustard is one of the worlds oldest condiments—dating back to early Roman cooks, who combined ground mustard seeds with an unfermented grape juice called must to make the hot paste mustum ardens, or "burning must." This was shortened to merely "mustard" when the condiment arrived in the English speaking world. Mustard is made by mixing the ground seeds of the mustard plant with liquid; but it's the choice of seeds and type of liquid used that creates the varieties of mustard we know today.

The magic of mustard's pungency and heat comes from enzymes that convert into mustard oil once the seed is broken. The level of heat in a given mustard is directly related to the specific type of seed used. Yellow mustard seeds (also called white) are the mildest, while brown and black seeds much hotter and more pungent. The type of liquid also impacts the pungency. The more acidic the liquid (i.e. vinegar or wine) the slower this reaction will take place, and the longer the final heat will last. Mustards made with less acidic liquids like water are extremely pungent when freshly prepared, but lose that punch more quickly. The temperature of the water can also affect heat level—hot water will deactivate the enzymes more quickly making a more mild mustard.

YELLOW MUSTARD

The gold standard for American mustards. Its bright yellow color comes from the sole use of finely ground yellow mustard seeds, as well as the powerful coloring spice turmeric.

HONEY MUSTARD

Honey mustard is exactly what its name implies—usually a mixture of honey and mustard 1:1. Since the goal of honey mustard is to bring sweetness to a sauce, yellow is the most common mustard used, because it starts with an already mild flavor that's easy to neutralize further with honey.

SPICY BROWN MUSTARD aka Deli Mustard

Made with brown mustard seeds and less vinegar than a standard mustard. The combination of the hotter seeds and less acidity makes the heat much more pronounced. Spicy brown mustard also leaves the bran on the seeds, which don't fully break down when processed, giving the final sauce a coarser look and feel.

DIJON MUSTARD

Known for its robust profile, intensified heat, and a more pungent flavor. Dijon is a smooth, brown seed mustard made originally with verjuice—an acidic juice made from unripe grapes—but now mainly made with vinegar.

WHOLE GRAIN MUSTARD aka Stone Ground

Whole grain mustard is simply a mustard that has been ground just enough to form a paste, creating a thick, coarse texture. Most whole grain mustard is of Dijon influence. The use of wine instead of vinegar, and brown and black seeds instead of yellow, makes many whole grain mustards pack a punch.

Not Stocked

HOT MUSTARD aka Chinese

Hot mustard is made with ground brown or black mustard seeds and cold water.

ENGLISH MUSTARD aka Powdered

English mustard is just one variety of hot mustard but not as hot as Chinese. Most commonly seen under the Colman's brand, English mustard is a mix of yellow and brown mustard seeds. Dried mustard powder has no real heat on its own, until liquid is added.

Not Stocked

GERMAN MUSTARD

You can't judge a mustard merely by the "German" label, because mustards from this country can range from spicy to sweet and coarse to fine. Some German mustards also involve extra ingredients, like horseradish, to enhance their flavor. The most popular type in Germany is a mix of yellow and brown mustard seeds called Mittelscharf, or medium hot, for a distinctive spiciness that's a step up from a Dijon.

BEER & SPIRIT MUSTARDS

Beer mustard is said to have been born in the US Midwest around the 20th century. This type of mustard uses beer as part or all of the liquid base. Having less acidity, beer mustard usually delivers heat in a big way, which can end up masking the flavor of the beer. Fuller flavored beers like porters, dark ales and stouts, can impart even more complexity. Whiskeys and bourbons are popular choices for spirit-based mustards, since their distinct flavors pair well with the pungency of mustard seeds. Because of the strong flavor, spirits are usually mixed with vinegar.

Sweet Drops are too cute! These tiny, tear shaped peppers originated in the Amazon. Also known as Incan Red Drops, these have a sugar-like sweetness and a great “pop”. Fun in Bloody Mary’s, on pizza, in pasta, and couscous. BiRITE #578120, 6/28 oz can.

Mama Lil's Sweet & Spicy Hungarian ‘Goathorn’ Peppers are among the Pacific Northwest's most well-loved regional delicacies. A hint of maple syrup in the brine gives these fruity, tangy and crunchy peppers a pleasant sweetness. BiRITE #399007, 15 lb tub, packed in oil.

Peppadews are a unique South African pepper with a distinctive sweet-to-spicy flavor and crisp texture that awakens the palate. The marinade is a perfect ingredient for dressings and stir-fry. BiRITE #378411, 2/105 oz can.

Not so secret, ingredient alert - Calabrian chili peppers!

These red chili peppers are H.O.T. and S.P.I.C.Y! Also called Italian Peperoncino, Italian Chili Pepper or Capsicum Frutescens, these peppers come from the heart of the Calabria region of southern Italy. Here, the sunny and warm climate creates a rich terrain, perfect for growing this pleasantly sharp delicacy. Each of these rich red peppers has a distinct palate of stimulating flavor. Packed in an oil marinade, infused with Italian herbs and spices, these add the perfect amount of piquant flavor to enliven any dish.

Calabrian chili peppers are the key ingredient for an amazing Arrabbiata pasta. They are also a great way to wake up any antipasta and a must-have in any pizza kitchen as an oil or mash. (Just make your own chili oil by blending then straining. Reserve mash for condiment.) BiRITE #227070, 2/5.6 lb tub Silano and BiRITE #227075 2/5.7 lb jar Frutto d'Italia

MANHATTAN - whole, average 135 ct, #394825

A barrel fermented half-sour is widely regarded as the “King of Pickles.” Sonoma Brinery’s Manhattan-Style half-sours are richly flavored with nine spices, fresh garlic, and sea salt. Barrel fermented, never pasteurized and probiotic, their pickling brine is not only packed with flavor, it has abundant health benefits too. This all-natural pickle is the best snack a kid can have, not to mention the best friend your next Reuben sandwich will ever have!

OUTRAGEOUS BREAD AND BUTTER—3/16”, approx. 1750 ct, #392937

Your next BBQ just won’t be the same without Sonoma Brinery’s Outrageous Bread and Butter pickles. This is definitely not your grandmother’s pickle. Filled with Southwestern flavors and a little bit of chili heat, these pickles will light up everything from your hamburgers to your panini.

SPICY BREAD AND BUTTER—3/16”, approx. 1750 ct, #392936

OK, chili lovers, this Bud’s for you! If you liked the Outrageous Bread and Butters, but you’re the kind of person that needs a little more spice in your life, here it is. Slap these little devils on your next BBQ’d pork sandwich and you’ll never be the same. Fire-roasted red bell peppers and fiery Thai chilis gang-up to make this one special.

RAW SAUERKRAUT, #578936

Raw Sauerkraut is a treat for the palette and the body. Unlike the more common pasteurized varieties, Raw Sauerkraut has a crisp and crunchy texture, a full load of fresh cabbage flavor and a mellow tartness that doesn’t overwhelm the flavors. Their raw sauerkraut, a probiotic, is widely considered to be one of the healthiest foods available.

Sinto Gourmet Spicy Red Napa Cabbage Kimchi #517854

—This is the most common form of Kimchi made with Napa Cabbage, a little bit of Daikon radish, and seasoned with red pepper powder to provide a spicy kick. Most ingredients are locally sourced. Hand-made and naturally fermented, it is a truly wholesome food, good for anyone with diet restrictions (gluten free) and it’s vegan. Ingredients: Napa Cabbage, Radish, Water, Red Pepper Powder, Sinan Sea Salt, Kosher Salt, Green Onion, Yellow Onion, Sugar, Garlic, Ginger, Brown Seaweed. Vegan, No MSG, No Preservatives, Gluten Free, Fat Free—LOCAL Woman Owned Business. AVAILABLE IN 2 GALLON BULK TUB.

Divina Roasted Tomatoes, Red #587211, Yellow #587212, 6/64 oz pet tubs, are the freshest tasting roasted tomatoes on the market! These all natural tomatoes are picked at the peak of ripeness and slow-roasted for a deep, rich flavor and then frozen for summer-fresh all year round! Ingredients: Tomatoes, expeller pressed non-GMO canola oil, extra virgin olive oil, garlic, organic vinegar, salt and spices. Product is frozen with a sealed shelf life of 18 months. They have all the right buzz words too – all natural, kosher, gluten free and non-GMO. Product of the USA.

EVOO Bulk & Finishing

Looking for a great quality EVOO bulk size that is not commodity? We have 4 really terrific choices for you—all at about the same price per liter/gallon. In order of mildest to robust:

- L'Estornell from VEA (Catalonia, Spain)
- California Olive Ranch (California)
- Green Gold from Asaro (Sicily, Italy)
 - CORTO (California)

L'Estornell—This elegant oil is made from hand-picked, cold-pressed olives from a small community outside the village of Sarocca de Lerida, near Barcelona in the region of Catalonia, Spain. L'Estornell has a beautiful golden color, exceptional fragrance and a rich, creamy and delicate taste. It is in a word—delicious. This oil is great as an ingredient or as a finishing oil. The acidity of L'Estornell olive oil is very low, between 0.2 and 0.3 – never surpassing 0.5 because it is processed within 24 hours after harvesting. BiRITE #363010, 3/5 liter, PET jug.

California Olive Ranch—Since 2007, their extra virgin olive oils have been used by James Beard Award winning chefs in some of the best restaurants across the United States. Expanding into fast casual, their olive oils are selected by some of the fastest growing restaurant concepts and top universities that focus on selecting high-quality, sustainably grown ingredients to differentiate themselves to their own loyal fans. BiRITE #368509, 5 gallon Arbequina and #368505 5 gallon Chef's Calif Blend (100% evoo), bag in a box. SHORTAGE 2019—NOT AVAILABLE.

Green Gold (aka "Oro di Sicilia")—direct from the Asaro family estate in Trapani, Sicily, comes an excellent quality, well-priced 100% authentically Italian extra virgin olive oil. Silver winner at the NY International Olive Oil Competition 2017. Made from primarily Nocellara del Belice (aka Castelvetro) along with Biancolilla and Cerasuola (aka Ogliara) olives. Beautiful green color with a wonderful aroma full of nuts and artichokes, with a peppery finish. Very low acidity between 0.2-0.4%. BiRITE #363012, 4/3 liter PET. jug.

Corto Truly—This oil is called "Truly", because it is truly 100% California olives! New packaging and pour spouts make this very convenient for the kitchen. Owned by Stanislaus Tomato company so you know this oil is all about the quality. Acidity 0.2%. BiRITE #368516 10 liter and #368515 20 liter, bag in a box.

By international law, extra virgin olive oil must be 0.8% or less.
California's standard is 0.5%.

FINISHING OILS 101—General rule of thumb is, if the dish is strong in flavor, then go for an oil that is gentle. If the dish is delicate, then go with a more dynamic flavor profile. Every kitchen should have some fun oils that can be used not only on everyday items to finish a dish but also as inspiration for specials. Finishing oils add depth in flavor and contrast in color or texture. From soups to vegetables to all types of protein—everything tastes better and shines a little more brightly with a finishing oil. Look for an oil that will give you color contrast as well as complement the flavor. Here are a few of our favorites!

SHORTAGE 2019 EVOO—De Carlo “Tenuta Torre di Mossa” DOP, Puglia, Italy #368159, 6/500 ml: This exceptional oil is super green in flavor and has beautiful deep golden color with just a touch of green. This oil is made from 100% Coratina olives from the De Carlo’s historic family farm in Puglia, Italy. Though this family has been producing fine oils since the early 1600’s, recently they have received so many awards for this exceptional oil. This limited production oil is hand-picked and processed within 12 hours of harvesting. The bottle is 500 ml and easy to handle with a portion control spout. If you like aggressive Tuscan style oils you will really like this.

- Winner 2019 Flos Olei”, Rome, Italy—Top 20, Best EVOO Organic & PDO/PGI
- Winner 2018 Flos Olei”, Rome, Italy—Selected Farm & 98/100 score—”Tenuta Torre di Mossa”
- Winner 2015 “Olio Capitale Expo”, Trieste, Italy—Category Intenso—”Tenuta Torre di Mossa”
- Winner 2014 “Flos Olei”, Rome, Italy—Best Farm in the World, De Carlo
- Winner 2013 “Flor Olei”, Rome, Italy—Best in the World, Intense Fruit Category “Tenuta Torre di Mossa”

EVOO—Giachi “Primolio” Tuscany, Italy #368160, 12/500 ml: Excellent finishing oil. Beautiful gold color and green tones. New York International Olive Oil Competition, Gold Award Winner 2012 and 2014.

PUMPKIN Seed Oil from Austria's Finest, Austria #368525, 6/17 oz: Not just for fall menus! This dark toasted nut oil is made from the renown Styrian pumpkins in Austria. A great garnish for thick soups, roasted veggies, on sautéed or broiled fish, salad dressings...or with desserts such as the classic Styrian pumpkin seed oil cake. Basically, anywhere you use a nut or fine extra virgin olive oil, you could use pumpkin seed oil.

PORCINI Oil “Obelisk” from Urbani #363002, 6/250 ml: Often passed over for truffle oil, porcini oil is a wonderful way to enhance any mushroom dish. Aromatic and round mushroom notes—porcini oil is a great compliment to any dish that already includes porcinis, allowing you to stretch your flavor dollars. It makes a wonderful alternative for those who don’t like truffle oil.

CITRUS EVO Oils—the main difference between De Carlo and Agrumato is the intensity of the oil. The process of crushing the fresh fruit with the olives is the same. The De Carlo Orange/Tangerine #363315 has a mild and fruity extra virgin olive oil making it ideal for really strong flavored dishes like swordfish. The Agrumato Lemon #363017 on the other hand, has a very aggressive oil which might work best on a more neutral palate. We also stock a Meyer Lemon from O Olive Oil #368504 in 1/2 gallon bulk. This is a great item if you are going thru a few bottles a week and want a California product.

What does Expeller Pressed mean? It means that the oil has been extracted without chemicals, like Hexane. All organic and extra virgin oils are expeller pressed—they don't need to say that on the label. However, most commodity oils—which are “value” priced—are not.

L'Estornell Extra Virgin Olive Oil
For Restaurants

 - Catalonia, Spain

A special blend of Arbequina and Picual olive oils from Catalonia.

Medium fruitiness, fragrant olive notes with balanced bitterness—a favorite style for all Chefs.

L'ESTORNELL

Silver winner at the NY International Olive Oil Competition 2017.

Oro di Sicilia (Green Gold) is an exclusive partnership between Tommaso Asaro, heralded 4th generation Sicilian olive oil producer, and Frank Castronovo & Frank Falcinelli, renowned chefs and restaurateurs, and owners of Frankies Spuntino Group in New York City. Green Gold, their first collaboration together, is a first cold-pressed extra virgin olive oil, combining three legendary Sicilian olives: Nocellara del Belice, Biancolilla and Cerasuola. All three olives are grown, harvested, cold-pressed and bottled on the Asaro Estate, in the Trapani region of Sicily, at their century old family farm overlooking the Mediterranean Sea.

Green Gold has a beautiful green color, a wonderful aroma full of nuts and artichokes, and a peppery finish. It's also low in acidity and has a great price too making this medium blend oil perfect for all uses, everyday!

Acetaia San Giacomo, located in the Reggio Emilia region of Italy, is where Andrea Bezzecchi oversees the production of his aged balsamic vinegar. Acetaia San Giacomo has been recognized for their superior quality and pure line of balsamics. “Essenza”, their 8 year balsamic was awarded the silver Sofi in 2011. His vinegars are ORGANIC and VEGAN.

Additionally, all of his regular vinegars are defined as “surface static” or “naturally oxidized” RAW vinegar which takes about 1 year. Think of Orleans Method to the power of 10. That is with no heat or any dilution—nothing applied, just time. Acidity ranges from 7-10%. Each batch has its own identity. Organic whenever possible and always non-GMO. Andrea Bezzecchi is President of the Balsamic Consortio in Reggio Emilia, a Sommelier and a professional taster for Parmigiano Reggiano cheese, as well.

Let's talk about “real” artisanal vinegar...

The most known term for artisanal vinegar is “Orleans” method but there is an even more unique method called “Static Superficial” or “Naturally Oxidized”.

Orleans method can take from 30 days to several months or more and is aged wood barrels, leaving behind some of the “mother” for the next batch. Though these vinegars are not heated, they are diluted with water to balance their acidity (generally 5-7%). These vinegars are richer in flavor and color than commodity vinegars.

Static Superficial or Naturally Oxidized is a truly artisanal method and goes steps beyond Orleans. First the vinegar is aged a minimum of 9 months, but typically around 1 year. No heat or water are ever added and the mother is not necessarily used in the next batch (that decision is up to the maker). Sometimes, even, the mother is removed during fermentation because it blocks contact with air and can cause unpleasant aromas and flavors. Because of this, each batch has its own identity. These vinegars are neither pasteurized or micro-filtered. All of San Giacomo's vinegars are Static Superficial.

Located in the heart of Champagne region in France, Beaufor continues the tradition of fine French vinegars. Slightly higher in acidity (7%) than domestic vinegars, Beaufor vinegars have a refreshingly bright taste and varied perfumes that showcase flavor.

Verjus (pronounced vair-ZHOO) is the tart, fresh juice of unripe wine grapes. It is a culinary ingredient indigenous to the world's wine producing regions that is used in sauce making, for poaching fish and meat, and to dress lettuces, vegetables and fruit. Verjus or "verjuice" as it is sometimes called, literally means green juice in the sense that it's made from fruit that has yet to fully ripen — it's green. The French would say it is the wine, that was not good enough to make wine. It is used to add acidity to foods, an important component in food and in cooking.

The Maria brand is trusted for its good quality and value. You can count on their 6 Star Premium Balsamic, Balsamic Glaze or Sherry vinegar. Ingredients: wine vinegar (74%), concentrated grape must (25%) and caramel (1%). Contains Roland® Balsamic Vinegar is a fine aged vinegar from Modena, Italy. The must from the trebbiano grape is boiled to sterilize and concentrate the sugar which imparts an intense sweet tart flavor and a rich, dark color. Balsamic means "aromatic." Balsamic Vinegar of Modena (Wine Vinegar, Concentrated Cooked Grape Must, Caramel Color). Contains sulfites.

"Don Bruno" label sherry wine vinegar from American Roland results from the acetic fermentation of sherry wine from the Jerez de la Frontera region of Spain. This delicate, yet full-bodied vinegar is aged in oak barrels by traditional methods. Tawny golden color and sweet sherry flavor and aroma. Ingredients: Sherry Wine Vinegar, Sulfur Dioxide (as a preservative).

From Great Grapes...Comes Great Vinegar! Family owned and operated, Sonoma Vinegar Works produces a full line of premium vinegars, including essential red and white vinegars, classic balsamic and varietal vinegars such as champagne, cabernet sauvignon and sherry—with no colors added. Situated at their family ranch located in the heart of California wine country, their unique location gives them access to the finest wine and agricultural products available for premium vinegar production. Excellent quality vinegar, competitively priced with other California brands.

Villa Manodori Aceto Balsamico of Modena 'Artigianale' - is a carefully crafted labor of love from Chef Massimo Bottura, owner of two-star Michelin restaurant Osteria Francescana in Modena, Italy. Made in the tradizionale style and produced in limited quantities, the vinegar is a creative blend of several ages of aceto balsamico that is designed to hold up to heat without turning bitter. Maturing in barrels of oak, chestnut and juniper, the vinegar develops a shiny ebony color, pleasant woody aroma and raisin-sweet, tart taste with a maple syrup texture. A true original, this versatile condiment is enjoyed as an alternative to precious traditional balsamic. Grape must plus vinegar. 6% acidity.

Though “rice wine vinegar” and “rice vinegar” can be used interchangeably, there is a technical difference:

Natural Rice Vinegar is made by the alcoholic fermentation & subsequent acetous fermentation of the rice grain by saccharification and adjusted with water to the specific strength. Rice Wine Vinegar is made from wine, then into vinegar. Seasoned Rice Vinegar has added salt, sugar and possibly msg.

Rice Vinegars

Banyuls vinegar is made from a fortified wine of Banyuls. This Banyuls of high quality is aged for 4 years in wood vats which are outdoors exposed to the climatic variations. This type of aging gives a wine with a burnt topaz robe and a woody and spicy nose, and it develops the famous "Randolf" aroma (fresh walnut and mint) that will be found also in the vinegar. From the Catalan Pyrenees in the Roussillon region of France, on the southern border with the Emporda region of Spain. #568000, 12/500 ml, each.

Aged sherry—Sotaroni's Pedro Ximenez Gran Reserva 25 Year semi-sweet vinegar is pressed from the rich, late-harvest Pedro Ximenez grapes grown in the south of Spain, and aged in American oak barrels. Excellent for finishing sauces, vegetables and sweetbreads. Origin: Montana de Mariola, Spain. #565014, 6/200 ml, each.

Balsamic Reductions

Balsamic “Glaze”—a good value balsamic flavored “sauce” thickened with added sugar, starch and color.

Balsamic “Condimento”—in the truest sense, 100% grape must reduced naturally overtime. Thick enough to drizzle on tomatoes, cheese or ice cream. No additives.

Salt

By nature, all salt is organic and kosher. Salt is produced/processed by either Solar Method (which the salt is raked and left to dry by the sun), Vacuum Evaporation Method (which yields the purest salt, albeit most processed) or Mined. Salt is made up of sodium chloride, potassium chloride (electrolytes), and trace minerals.

“Table salt” has had the trace minerals removed and, in most cases, an anti-caking agent added. Generations ago, iodine was added to table salt to help thwart deficiencies which lead to goiters (neck swelling). The minerals that have been removed are used for other commercial products like vitamins.

“Kosher salt” gets its name from the term “Koshering” meat. The size of the grain is slightly larger than table salt and is uniquely light and flaky. A perfect, consistent salt for the kitchen hot or cold line. Because it is lighter in weight than table salt, you will actually use less. Some chefs prefer the taste of Kosher salt as it is not metallic like table salt. Kosher salt contains no iodine.

“Sea salt” is minimally processed using the Solar Method and has a clean, mineral taste and healthy trace minerals like natural electrolytes, iodine, potassium, calcium and magnesium. Sea salt is from ocean water or saltwater lakes with little or no processing. It has more flavor than table or Kosher salt because of the trace natural minerals and less sodium chloride (the bad guy).

Then we have “garnishing salts”—salts for texture, flavor and sometimes color. “Flake salt” refers to the shape it takes while being processed. The purest salts are Fleur de Sel, Flor da Sal, Sel Gris (gray salt) to name a few—these are harvested by-hand, in small batches with little or no processing.

In cooking or baking, you can generally switch out table salt for Kosher or sea IF weights are given; otherwise you will need to adjust your recipe because table salt weighs more per volume. Nutritionally they become equal when heated so table salt is the smart choice for blanching and cooking pasta.

Garnishing/Finishing Salts

Sea Salt Fleur de Sel Atlantic, De Choix, 1 kg tub #517051—hand harvested in Brittany, France. Crisp, delicate salt for garnish. Light, flakey & pure. Color is naturally off white.

Sea Salt Grey Coarse, Guerande, 14/1 kg bag #517068—hand harvested in Brittany, France. Excellent for roasting beef, fish, potatoes and tomatoes as well as in salt grinders. Slight grey color is from clay pools. Unprocessed salt full of flavor and nutrients.

Spices & Dried Chile

AI Dentes' Provisions operates in the model of a wine negociant. They control the sourcing, content, blending, and packaging of everything they sell. This hands-on approach allows them to assure you that their products are the finest & freshest dried spices available to the foodservice industry. Everything they sell is cleaned, processed, and bacteria treated in the United States to guarantee a pathogen free product. These processes are done in a FDA inspected & certified facility operated under HACCP guidelines. Third party audits of this facility are done regularly by NSF/ Cook & Thurber. Shipments to our facility are sealed with a tag attesting to the product's adherence to FDA standards.

Freshness counts! AI Dentes' goes to great lengths to give you what you want. For example, they don't let black pepper sit on our shelves for more than 2 weeks. In addition, their pepper isn't ground until it's delivered to their packing facility. We order from AI Dentes' once a week, so we know our stock is fresh!! We stock a complete range of traditional herbs, spices and seasonings from AI Dentes', as well as custom blends too! Not using AI Dentes' in your kitchen? Let us show you in a side by side cutting why you should!

Below is a sampling of seasonings and spices we offer including chiles (whole peppers).

Chile Pepper 101 (Dried Whole Pods)

Ancho (dried Poblano)—not to be confused with Pasilla below. Smoky, rich flavor with low heat.

Arbol (aka Chile de Arbol)—small red chile that is spicy with heat that builds. Nice earthy flavor. As flavorful as a habanero but with a fraction of the heat. Does not require rehydration.

California (aka Anaheim)—very mild. Good sub are New Mexico chiles which are a bit hotter.

Guajillo—smooth, shiny and reddish-brown in color. Very tough skin so they need to be soaked longer than other chiles. Used in salsa and pastes; heat can vary from medium to hot.

Habanero—super hot. Notes of tropical fruits with berry undertones.

New Mexico (aka New Mexico Red)—earthy. Similar to California (aka Anaheim) but hotter and more flavorful.

Pasilla (aka Chile Negro—dried Chilaca)—Black color and deep flavor like a spicy prune. Long, narrow and mild; standard ingredient in Mole sauces. Great with pork or beef.

Need a little help navigating the paprika category?

Paprika is basically red peppers which have been dried and ground. Most of the differences are regional—same variety of plant grown in different climates and soils. Some are used more for coloring, some for smokiness, and certainly for heat. If you're not sure which paprika to use, start with Hungarian.

Paprika Domestic—Bright color, sharp flavor. Great basic go to paprika

Paprika Extra Fancy—Similar to domestic, bright color, sharp flavor.

Paprika Hungarian Style Bulk—Mild flavor, primarily used for coloring.

Paprika Peruvian Bulk—Origin Peru, mild in flavor.

Paprika Smoked Sweet—Sweet smoky flavor.

Paprika Spanish—Origin Spain, though similar to McCormick or Pimenton Dulce. Cheaper than Hungarian but more pungent.

Pimenton de la Vera DOP— If you are looking for true Spanish paprika/pimenton, look no further! We stock the “real deal” from Santo Domingo! Available in SPICY HOT or SLIGHTY SWEET with mild/medium heat. Peppers are gently smoked for 15 days, then carefully turned every 24 hours to ensure even drying. Stem & seeds removed; then stone ground. Caceres, Spain.

Smoked Paprika (Ahumado) - If you are making Paella, the more popular choice is Chiquilin's Smoked (Ahumado) Paprika. Rich and complex with smoky overtones. Popular in many Spanish dishes. This extra-smoky version is the best for this traditional rice dish. Alicante, Spain.

Fish—Anchovies, Octopus, Salmon & Tuna...

Anchovies The best quality come salted. Rinse the salt off before using. Unopened canned anchovies can be stored for up to a year in a dry, cool place. Once opened, they will keep for up to two days if you wrap them well and refrigerate them. Substitutes: anchovy paste (½ teaspoon anchovy paste for each fillet).

Good Question! Are Boquerones (white anchovies) a different species than Italian anchovies? No, they are the SAME. Boquerones are a tapas/dish, not the fish. They are the same Mediterranean anchovy that comes salted, whole or in pieces. The anchovy fillets are marinated in vinegar or a combination of oil/vinegar, then seasoned with garlic and parsley.

Is there really a difference between anchovies from Asia, Chile or the Mediterranean?

Yes. It might be the species, the quality of the oil and salt, or even in the processing. Our best quality anchovies come from Scalia in Sicily. Benedetto Scalia in Sciacca, Italy founded Scalia on the Mediterranean coast in 1973. Anchovies and sardines are the main products of Scalia. The local fishing fleet provides the fish. The top priority of the company is their Guarantee of Quality.

Their modern-day method of production closely parallels that of ancient tradition. All phases of workmanship, with exclusion of the drying and wrapping process, are precisely executed by the local women of Sciacca using specific hand-crafting techniques. All fish are immediately prepared upon arrival in order to retain their freshness and precious qualities.

In a word, these are sublime and honestly the best anchovies you will ever have. Are they more expensive? Of course! But for true anchovy lovers, this is your Holy Grail. There is a reason these anchovies have a cult following. "Serie Oro" anchovies are one of Conservas Ortiz's specialties. Fished in northern Spain's Bay of Biscay (near Bilbao and the French boarder), these are large anchovies averaging 3.75 grams each—about twice the size as other brands. They are traditionally cleaned, gently with cloth, allowing them to maintain all of the fish's original and unique aroma. They are filleted one by one with a knife, and are perfectly trimmed with little or no silver skin, with only olive oil and salt added. They are tender, yet firm; meaty and not too salty—approximately 70 fillets per can. Beautifully hand packed. Ortiz Serie Oro #441022, 6/450 gr tin, each.

What does local wild line-caught albacore tuna really mean?

For Oregon Seafood in Charleston, Oregon, it means that their local fishermen catch fresh tuna off our Pacific Northwest waters and process it in their facility in Charleston, Oregon. Unlike some companies, who fish in the same waters, who then have it processed in Asia because it costs less.

Oregon Seafood is the only domestic US "pouch" tuna processor. Their tuna is once cooked for 73 minutes while most canned tuna is twice cooked for over 4 hours. Oregon Seafood tuna is hand-packed. It's dense, thick, and has about 12-15% of flavorful belly fat, hand-packed, to mimic fresh tuna too! No one does that!! With most brands, you drain off the liquid but with their tuna, you are encouraged to re-incorporate the small amount of liquid back into the fish as it contains healthy oils and omega3's. Only 2 ingredients here—albacore tuna and sea salt (no salt version available). No broth or other ingredients, just 100% yield, pure and delicious!!

Not all tuna is 100% yield! Read the label to see if water has been added. For example, Wild Planet and Oregon Seafood is 100% yield and delivers up to 37% more servings than commodity tuna packed in water...meaning if you are paying about $100 per case of tuna, you can switch out to Wild Planet Albacore Tuna for about the same price/yield! That's like a free upgrade! Wild Planet tuna is from the Pacific Northwest and is canned in Vietnam to reduce costs.

Trending...Spanish Octopus: The Food and Agriculture Organization (FAO) of the United Nations is responsible for designating major international fishing areas for statistical purposes. FAO 34 is the area prized for fishing Spanish Octopus (see map.) Spanish Octopus is so versatile. It can be sliced, grilled, sautéed, stewed, fried...you name it. Ideal for tapas, as a salad or even a main course. We stock the 6-7 lb size, 1 each per unit/tray. Product is frozen, raw and tenderized. (They tenderize them in large washing-like machines with golf balls!). Reminder that fresh protein orders have an earlier cut-off, ask your sales rep for information.

Helix is a genus of large air-breathing land snails, terrestrial pulmonate gastropod molluscs. This genus is native to Europe and the regions around the Mediterranean Sea. Helix is the type genus of the family Helicidae. The best-known species include Helix aspersa, the common or brown garden snail, and Helix pomatia, the Roman snail, Burgundy snail, or edible snail. H. pomatia and some other species are eaten as Achatine snails have a single band of daltons where as Helix have two. (Dalton is a unit used to express the molecular weight of proteins, equivalent to atomic mass unit). Achatine snails are native to Indonesia. Considered a little more chewy than Helix or Burgundy snails yet more competitively priced.

Asian Noodle Stocking Guide

Buckwheat Soba Noodles, Organic #208500 Roland 30/12.8 oz case only

These "good value" soba noodles cook quickly in about 3 minutes. Noodle is round and has a good dark color. Made in China.

Buckwheat Soba Noodles #208505 Kanesa 30/10.5 oz case only

These "best quality" soba noodles are from Maiko, Japan. Noodle is square and cooks up beautifully—not sticky and has an excellent buckwheat flavor. Made in Japan.

Chow Mein Noodles (Frozen) #347005 Amoy/Royal 4/5 lb case only

These are pre-cooked Chinese style noodles that are ready for stir fry. Can be fried to a light golden color garnish for salads. Contains colors. Made in USA.

Chuka Soba Noodles (Ramen) #208503 Shirakiku 50/8 oz case only

Similar to ramen noodles, these are the Japanese. (Chuka is the Japanese word for Chinese!). Cooks up nice and curly! Made in China.

Rice Stick Maifun Noodles #208515 Dynasty 12/6.75 oz case only

Semi-transparent noodle that cooks white. Made with rice starch and cornstarch. This thin angle-hair noodle can be deep fried for a crunchy salad. Great in stir fry and soup! Made in Taiwan.

Rice Stick Medium 3MM Noodles #208507 1000 Elephants 30/14 oz case only

Made of rice flour; preferred noodle for Pad Thai dish. Made in Thailand

Rice Stick Thin Cello Noodles #208508 Silver Spring 30/16 oz each or case

Made of rice flour, thinner than 3MM from Thailand. Made in China.

Somen Noodles Organic #208502 Hakubaku 12/9.5 oz case only

Great for salads or soups. Thinnest Japanese wheat noodle. Cooks in 2 minutes. Drain & rise well with cold water. Non-GMO and Kosher. Made in Australia

Udon Futonaga 11" Noodles #208504 Nanka 30/12 oz case only

Authentic Japanese thick wheat noodle, most often used in soups or stews. Made in USA.

Yaki-soba Noodles—Frozen #208501 Fortune 4/5 lb case only

These are pre-cooked Japanese noodles that are ready for stir-fry. Made in USA.

KOREAN CHILI PASTE Gochujang #43001—Korean fermented chili sauce from Sinto Gourmet! Made in with NO wheat (gluten-free!), no preservatives, no corn syrup, no GMO's and it's vegan too! Traditionally used for Bibimbap sauce (Korean mixed rice dish) and bar-b-que marinade, Gochujang is getting a lot of attention from chefs around the world and being used in many different ways such as Gochujang mayo (excellent with a Kimchi Burger!), spicy chicken wings or glazed salmon. Packed 6/3 lb square tub. Keep refrigerated, shelf life is 3 years once opened.
